Land Securities drives development of a more sustainable Capital City

UK's leading property company sponsors London Sustainability Weeks

Land Securities today announced its sponsorship of Love London – London Sustainability Weeks. From June 3rd to June 17th, the UK property company which owns £7.5bn worth of commercial property across the Capital, is calling for Londoners to take action for a more sustainable London.

Official sponsor of the Better London category, Land Securities is encouraging London residents to join in community-based events - from a Toddler Safari to a Recycled Sculpture Show - taking place throughout the Capital.

Land Securities' support builds on the recent announcement of its four pronged energy strategy aimed at reducing its contribution to the effects of climate change. Their approach to efficient energy management is based on 25 years of monitoring energy data and they have been able to deliver significant year on year energy reductions across the London property portfolio, saving some 11,145 tonnes of CO2 emissions over the past five years.

Celebrating its fifth year, Love London – London Sustainability Weeks events see community groups, businesses and local authorities join together to celebrate projects and organisations that are making a real contribution to creating a more sustainable capital. Each event offers a unique opportunity for Londoners concerned about the planet to find out how simple steps can help make a difference to climate change, and encourages them to commit to making personal contributions to build a cleaner, greener and healthier London.

Wendy Franks, Community Liaison Manager at Land Securities' London Portfolio commented;

“Land Securities has long been aware of the importance of investing in the capital. We currently have a £2.7bn development pipeline in London and we are undertaking many initiatives to make sure our business reduces its carbon footprint. We are delighted to be partnering with London Sustainability Weeks to encourage Londoners to do the same. If we all take small measures, we can work to build a better London for future generations.”
